Change 1. Rights are Protected and Extreme Vulnerability Reduced

People in the most fragile, conflict- and climate-affected contexts are protected, have their rights upheld and have the power to transform the underlying drivers of vulnerability, reducing the risk and impact of future crises

Prevent Harm

Challenge the Drivers of Crisis

Address the drivers of conflict, fragility and rights violations by using domestic power and global influence to strengthen rights-based governance and accountability, protect civilians, defend civic space and international law, and advance feminist conflict prevention and peacebuilding

Realise Rights

Advance Rights in Crisis

Deliver feminist, locally-led humanitarian action that protects rights, strengthens resilience and contributes to longer-term change in fragile, conflict- and climate-affected contexts, particularly in neglected crises and last-mile communities, including through preparedness and anticipatory action

Change 2. Feminist, Just and Sustainable Systems Deliver for People and Planet

People everywhere thrive in a just and sustainable world because the systems that cause and sustain poverty, gender and wider inequalities, rights violations and climate breakdown have been transformed

Build Fairness

Drive Tax and Debt Justice

Implement and champion fair, feminist reforms to wealth taxation, polluter pays measures, debt, tax avoidance and illicit financial flows, ensuring that resources are raised, retained and distributed more fairly to advance gender-just, care-centred economies, climate justice and rights globally and in the UK

Invest in Global Justice

Reform and Restore Aid

Reform Official Development Assistance and restore it to 0.7% of Gross National Income, ensuring it is locally-led, gender transformative, poverty-focused, rights-based, and prioritises fragile contexts and women-led organisations, with private finance meeting the same standards

Deliver Just Climate Action

Advance a Feminist Just Transition

Protect people facing climate impacts globally through scaled-up grant-based climate finance and responsible private finance, prioritising locally-led adaptation, water security, loss and damage, and fairer, care-centred economies, alongside rapid and just emissions reductions in the UK and increased circular resource use

Change 2 - Influencing strategy

Campaigns
e.g.
Davos/G20

The coalition campaign to inspire the British public to pressure the Burnham government to deliver a progressive international agenda in the years ahead and deliver a once-in-a-generation uplift in finance for low and middle income countries under a UK G20 Presidency.

External Timeline

2027 - G20 - UK Presidency

2028 - G7 - UK Presidency

2029 - General Election*

The years ahead mark one of the most significant opportunities for the international development sector in over a decade.

* An early General Election seems possible given the Burnham bounce.

What are the G20 policy priorities?

- This coalition is primarily concerned with building our collective power through public mobilisation and political campaigning to ensure as ambitious a set of outcomes at the G20 as possible. We believe if we are successful, we will help ensure more ambitious outcomes across the board - building a mandate for an outward looking, open UK.

- But to focus our collective fire-power, the coalition is focussed on three primary policy areas: securing significant level of debt relief, changes to build a fairer tax system, and an end to the damage caused by illicit financial flows.

How will we mobilise?

Collective Moments

Alongside the ongoing drum-beat of digital and placed-based work, we will be focussed on three main moment to engage the public:

- New Year - Launching the campaign to our supporters and network - inviting people into a conversation about fixing the economic system in January.
- Mid-Year - A big in-person moment marking a high-point for mobilising the public, likely a mass lobby of Parliament in June.
- End of Year - A cultural and political moment running alongside the G20 Summit in Manchester in November.
